

Workshop on Arthropod-Borne Diseases transmitted by ticks, mites, fleas, and lice

1st announcement

Dear colleagues,

We kindly invite you to participate at the Workshop on Arthropod-Borne Diseases transmitted by ticks, mites, fleas, and lice which will take place on 16-17 November 2017 organized by the Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut and the Fraunhofer Institute Leipzig (IZI).

Klaus Henning Cornelia Silaghi

Gustavo R. Makert dos Santos

Place:

Federal Research Institute for Animal Health, conference room, Naumburger Straße 96a, 07743 Jena, Germany

Topics

- epidemiology of pathogens in arthropods from natural and anthropized ecosystems;

- Lyme Disease: Borrelia burgdorferi
- Q fever: Coxiella burnetii
- Other Tick-borne pathogens: Anaplasma, Ehrlichia, Babesia, etc.
- other pathogens transmitted by mites, fleas and lice: Rickettsia, Bartonella, etc.
- diagnostic methods
- vaccine development
- pest management

Conference language: English.

Abstract submission:

Oral presentations and posters are welcome.

Abstracts in English should be sent in A4 Word format, 1 page, Trebuchet MS, 12 pt., 1.5 spaced with page margins set at: 30 mm – left, 15 mm – right, top and bottom – 25 mm.

Title of abstract: capital letters, centered, Authors names: first name, family name. Below the author(s) indicate affiliation, city, country and e-mail. After a double space the main text follows.

Abstracts will be submitted electronically to <https://nrl-qfieber.fli.de/index.php?id=161>

Deadline for submission: 15.10.2017

Registration will be done electronically on:

<https://nrl-qfieber.fli.de/index.php?id=160>

Registration fee

The fee (50 €) includes the abstract book, lunch, and soft drinks.

Recipient: Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut
Bank Sparkasse Jena Saale Holzland
IBAN – No.: DE85 8305 3030 0000 1521 45
BIC-Code: HELADEF1JEN

Reference: Arthropod Workshop

Please do not wait too long to register as we have a capacity limitation of 40 participants!

Contact: Klaus.Henning@fli.de

